

Lesson Plan for 1/23/06

1. Write course and section # and my name on board and 7m long line with hashes at meter intervals
2. Introduce myself and course
3. Pass out, then fill out index cards, they will be how I learn names and take roll, they will come get them from me each time they come to section and give them back at the end of section. Write on board:

Front: First and Last Name (large & dark print, clearly written)

Back: E-mail

Major (Unknown is fine)

Year

Hometown

4. Introduce everyone (while filling out index cards, say first and last name and favorite animal and/or sport, start with me)
5. Pass out, then go through syllabus, take questions about it or course or section
6. 5-7 minutes of seeing what people want to learn about this semester, me give some highlights, get ideas from the class, write them on the board
7. 5-7 minutes reminding them of the scale down of the solar system (see notes) and then do the history of the universe scale down on the line on the board
